Together Far Better

“You need not become a slave of a corporate establishment. Instead, prove your worth and work in the way you like to work and live. Life is no different from work”

Working at your convenience

World is changing. The last party to understand this fact is the Law Makers. There are no instances in the world where the lawmakers had foreseen a possible change in the future as far a growth potential is concerned.

At the same time we see them foresee to the extremes of calamities that may happen after 1000 years or more. Even the cry on climate change is of that nature. Planting trees need not be on account of what happens after 1000 years. Our forefathers did it in plenty when there were no such threats.

We see work as an essential element of life. Work and life cannot be differentiated. Week days for work and weekend for life is a foolish concept. CEOs live although their life and make their employees live only at weekends is no good for a society in this digital world.

Let us work and live together on virtual offices on a 24x7x365 basis...

Warm Regards
